

Workshop on Family-Focused Interventions to Prevent Substance Use Disorders in Adolescence

National Academy of Sciences Building
Lecture Room
2101 Constitution Avenue NW
Washington, DC
May 5—6, 2022

WORKSHOP AGENDA

Workshop Goals:

- Examine family-focused prevention interventions targeted at preventing substance use disorder in adolescence
- Consider state policy efforts to incorporate interventions into statewide health care strategies
- Discuss barriers to implementation for interventions, as well as examples of lessons learned from successful efforts to scale up such interventions

A note on definitions: Several terms used throughout this workshop may have different definitions in different settings. For the purposes of this event, the planning committee uses these definitions:

Prevention: universal prevention addressing the entire population, regardless of risk level

Adolescent: youth aged 10-19, with an emphasis on the earlier years in the range

Healthcare setting: including all healthcare providers (e.g., pediatricians, physician assistants, and nurse practitioners), as well as health educators
