

International Workshop Assessing the Security Implications of Genome Editing Technology

11-13 October, 2017

Herrenhausen Palace • Hanover, Germany

Communication and Social Media Guidelines

Please read the following guideline before you tweet (or blog, or Instagram, or Pinterest, or Google+, or LinkedIn, or share information through any other communication platform). In order to find a balance between the needs and expectations of workshop speakers and attendees and to make the meeting a safe and comfortable space for everyone, we ask you to use the following guidelines:

- During the plenary sessions encourage open, respectful discussion of workshop content on social media (e.g. Twitter, Facebook, Google+, etc.) and blogging platforms during the workshop. Please use the following workshop hashtag: #GeneEdit_Security
- While the default policy during the plenary sessions is to allow open discussion of workshop presentations on social media and blogging platforms, please respect any request from speakers to not share the contents of their presentation online. Speakers who do not wish to have their research shared by Twitter, Facebook, or other social networks should make an announcement before and during her/his presentation. We encourage speakers to also use an opt-out Twitter image on every slide of her/his presentation to ensure their preference is known. An example of an opt-out Twitter image can be found here: http://egu2016.eu/egu2016_twitter_no.png
- During the breakout sessions we respectfully ask all participants to adhere to the Chatham House Rule: workshop participants are welcome to use the information received, but neither the identity nor the affiliation of the speaker(s), nor that of any other participant, should be revealed.
- We expect all meeting participants to engage to behave with the highest of decorum in their communications online and in person. Harassment, intimidation, or discrimination in any form will not be tolerated. Individuals who behave in a disrespectful or discriminatory manner will be asked to leave the workshop.